AMPHENOL CORPORATION ANNOUNCES CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER TRANSITION

Wallingford, Connecticut. April 30, 2015. Amphenol Corporation (NYSE-APH) announced today that Craig A. Lampo has been designated to succeed in an orderly transition to the position of Senior Vice President and Chief Financial Officer. Mr. Lampo, age 45, has been with the Company for over 10 years as Vice President and Corporate Controller. Prior to joining Amphenol, he spent 11 years at Arthur Andersen LLP and Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu Limited. He is a certified public accountant and a graduate of the University of Connecticut. The Company's current Chief Financial Officer, Diana G. Reardon, will assist in the transition which will be completed over the next several months. After transitioning from the Chief Financial Officer role, Ms. Reardon will continue with the Company as a senior advisor.

Amphenol President and Chief Executive Officer, R. Adam Norwitt, commented: "I am very excited that Craig will become Amphenol's next Chief Financial Officer. He is a proven manager and financial executive with an excellent history of achievement. Importantly, he has been a key member of our executive management team throughout the last 10 years of Amphenol's industry-leading performance, and is intimately familiar with the Company's entire business. I am confident that he will continue to make significant contributions to the Company's future results, and that the transfer of responsibilities will be smooth. On behalf of our entire organization, I would like to thank Diana for her many years of outstanding service as Chief Financial Officer, and I look forward to continuing to benefit from her tremendous experience and excellent business judgment going forward."
